

Cubs build a Bug Hotel for the Church's Wildlife Garden.

The 2nd Worcester Cub Scouts under their Akela, Sue Fairman, have designed and built a wonderful Bug Hotel to go in to the Wildlife area of the churchyard. It has grass, twigs and broken bricks to provide holes for insects to hide in and hibernate when the time comes. The cubs are doing their Naturalist badge and will be visiting the churchyard over the next 3 months to investigate the wildlife in the churchyard and any changes over that period.

As a bonus, while a group of the older cubs put the bug hotel in place, the others started deadheading the daffodils for us, a very useful job.

We would like to thank Sue and the cubs for all their hard efforts and hope they are able to see changes during their period of observation. The following photos were taken during the evening visit.
